

MAGISTRATES COURT OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA
CIVIL JURISDICTION
FACT SHEET 1

UNDERSTANDING CIVIL PROCEEDINGS

The Magistrates Court has a civil jurisdiction to deal with the following:

- A monetary claim for debt or damages
- A consumer/trader claim
- A residential tenancies claim
- A claim for recovery of real (real estate) property

Parties are encouraged to try to reach an agreement or settlement before making a claim through the court.

There is no guarantee that monies will be recovered through the court process and failure to successfully prove a claim, could result in the award of costs to the other party.

Parties involved in a claim

Claimant

This is the party who starts the claim.

They may be an individual person(s), corporation or association who is owed money for a debt or damages, or a consumer or a trader.

Defendant

This is the party against whom the claim is made.

They may be an individual person(s), corporation or association against whom a claim for debt or damages is made, or a consumer or a trader.

General procedure claim

Deals with claims for debt or damages up to $75,000.

In this jurisdiction a lawyer can represent you. However, if the amount being claimed is for $10,000 or less you may only recover allowable costs as prescribed under the Magistrates Court (Civil Proceedings) Act 2004 unless the Court orders otherwise.

Proceedings are formal. If the claim is disputed and you proceed to trial, there will be a requirement for you to attend either or all of the following:

- pre-trial conference;
- listings conference; and
- mediation conference.

See Fact Sheet:
No. 2 - How to Commence a General Procedure Claim

Minor Case Claim

Deals with claims for debt or damages up to $10,000.

If you make a claim under this procedure a lawyer cannot represent either party, unless the court grants permission, due to special circumstances.

Proceedings are less formal than a general procedure claim. When the defendant lodges a notice of intention to defend, the case will be automatically listed for a pre-trial conference. At pre-trial conference, the court will attempt to bring the parties to a settlement.

See Fact Sheet:
No. 3 - How to Commence a Minor Case Claim

Consumer/ trader claims

This is a claim between a consumer and a trader where a dispute has arisen over the sale, supply or hire of goods or services up to $75,000.

Either a consumer or trader may start a general procedure or minor case consumer/trader claim.

See Fact Sheet:
No. 4 - Consumer/ Trader Claim.

Residential tenancy applications

This is an application where either an owner or a tenant, who is a party to a residential tenancy agreement, wants to enforce certain conditions of the agreement or to claim monies under the agreement which do not exceed $10,000.

For more information on how to proceed with a residential tenancy application, please contact the:

Department of Commerce.
2/140 William Street
PERTH WA 6000
Website: www.docep.wa.gov.au
General Advice Line: 1300 304 054

Recovery of real (real estate) property

This is a claim by a property owner to recover possession of real property, which is not subject to an agreement under the Residential Tenancies Act 1987, where the amount of gross annual rental value is less than $75,000.

For example, commercial property or people in illegal occupation.

Role of registry staff

It is important to note that court staff cannot give legal advice, as they are not qualified to do so. Court staff will assist wherever possible with procedural advice.

You should seek legal advice if you are in doubt about whether or not to start a civil claim.

If you receive a notice to attend Court and you are aware of a risk to yourself or others in relation to the matter, you should contact the Court at which you are required to attend.
